LONDON, June 13.—The British government today decided it will not continue to meet the terms of the American debt settlement in full.

The decision was reached at an emergency session of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald's cabinet.

The session was held following receipt of a long diplomatic message from Washington, in which President Roosevelt was reported to have signified his inability to accept Britain's offer to make a "token payment on the debt instalment due Thursday."

Drafting New Note.

It was understood the British government is drafting a new note to Washington, setting forth its position in full. The British stand likewise will be disclosed late this afternoon in a speech before the house of commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain.

Chamberlain will summarize Britain's recent communications to Washington on the subject of the debts, as well as the American replies.

Charges Buck Brothers Both Guilty Of Crime

(International News Service)
BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 13.—Kenneth and Cyril Buck, brothers, were "equally guilty" in the kidnapping of Peggy McMath, 10-year-old heiress, District Attorney William C. Crossley declared in his opening address to the jury in Barnstable county court today.

"Cyril Buck was just as guilty of the crime kidnapping as Kenneth,"

Crossley asserted. "It was a common enterprise. There was a concerted effort of mentality. They aided and abetted each other throughout. The district attorney's statements came as a surprise. Cyril Buck had claimed he was entirely innocent, that he consented to act as intermediary for his brother solely for the purpose of seeing that Peggy was returned safely to her home."

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 13.—When bids were opened at the offices of the water and power resources board here on Monday afternoon, it was found that the low bid for the relocation of a stretch of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and relocation of a highway across the Pymatuning dam has been submitted by the Bates and Rogers Construction Company of Cleveland, Ohio. Other Bids
Bids of the other 17 contractors, submitted yesterday, in addition to the figures of the Bates & Rogers Company, are as follows: Burkett Construction Co., Harrisburg, N. J., $245,684; John F. Germany Injects Disarma-

For London Delegates

(International News Service)
The world economic conference in London entered upon a rocky road of travel today when the British cabinet decided it will not continue to meet the terms of the American debt settlement in full.

This decision was interpreted as meaning Britain would fail to make full payment of the $75,950,000 installment due on Thursday.

Hull Delays Speech
Coinciding with this development, it was announced that Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief American delegate to the conference had postponed his scheduled speech setting for the American position until tomorrow.

The postponement was announced under instructions from Washington. Despite denials, it was indicated the British stand regarding the debts necessitated alterations in Hull's speech.

Replacing Hull as first speaker, Premier Edward Daladier of France made his expected demand for immediate stabilization of currencies, after informing International News Service it was useless for the conference to handle economic problems until we know where the dollar stands.

Demand Debt Settlement

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 13.—King spoke over the radio Monday. It was 5 o'clock out here (I was just going to work.) Why don't this world's conference fix it that whenever anybody does anything it will be the same hour all over.

You will say: "Silly, they can't do that." They can just as easy as they can agree on anything else.

Different nations have different problems, just like different nations have the sun shine on 'em at different times. So when they fix how many guns each one is to have, how much foreign goods each one shall consume, and how much each one's money is worth, why at that same time fix it so it's 5 o'clock in the morning everywhere at once.

Sudden drop in temperatures sort of handicapped the epidemic of lawn fetes last night. Sitting in the open eating ice cream wasn't just what was intended when the fetes were arranged, the weather conditions making the demand for cooling refreshments slightly under anticipations.

And here's another one that can be blamed on the weather. At a social gathering last night, refreshments had been planned in the shape of ice tea, ice cream and strawberries, etc., believing that another stifling hot night was in store. But when it came time to serve the food preparations it was necessary for the host to light the gas fire in the room for the comfort of the guests.

U. S. PARLEY DELEGATES INCENSED

British Action Most Unexpected

Dragging War Debts Into Economic Parley Brings Added Difficulty

DELEGATES LEERY OF NEW AGREEMENTS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LONDON, June 13.—The World Economic Conference floated into its second day on a sea of oratory today, with the foreign debt issue overshadowing all talk of tariffs, monetary stabilization and other subjects on the agenda.

The unexpected action of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald in thrusting the debt controversy into his welcoming speech, as well as the reported British decision to default on the payment due Thursday, has dramatized the issue.

Its injection into the proceedings is all the more dramatic, if not outright dangerous, because the debts have no place on the conference agenda and the American delegates are without authority to discuss them.

American Delegates Incensed. The American delegates are privately incensed over the situation, although generally they are not speaking for publication for fear of muddying waters already sufficiently cloudy with controversy and pessimism.

Inwardly, however, they are boiling. Representative Samuel McReynolds, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee and one of the leading American delegates, characterized MacDonald's action as "inappropriate." Other members of the delegation felt pretty much the same way but remained silent.

In general, the United States delegates feel that it was bad enough for MacDonald to drag in the debts at all in view of his position as official host to the conference, but for him to virtually invite all of America's debtors to seek settlement of the debt on the "Lausanne" "dime-to-a-dollar" basis is regarded as infinitely worse.

Effect Conjecture

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the American delegation, has expressed his firm determination of sticking closely to the agenda of the conference. He is leaving the debt problem up to president Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, speculation was rife in conference circles over the effect British partial repudiation of her debt may have on the parley's objectives with regard to tariffs and other matters.

One American authority, who declined to be quoted directly, summed up the situation with this cynical observation:

"What's the use of signing more agreements here when the other agreements have become scraps of paper."

While this represented an extreme view, there is no doubt that the debt situation has generally increased the pessimism prevailing in American circles.

'Peep Hole' System For Post Office Elaborate

When workmen finish the construction of certain secret passageways at the city's new postoffice, few living souls except authorized postal inspectors will gain further admission to them. In the common talk of postal folk the passageways are known as "peep holes."

From concealed observation galleries winding in and out through the structure, inspectors may watch at length to prove postal employees innocent of some misconduct patrons may have charged.

At times the inspector may have to don overalls, unless he takes the chance of soiling a good suit in the climb up hidden ladders and in and around sealed portions of the building.

The New Castle building, like every other post office building where more than two or three are employed, will have its elaborate "peep hole" system. Investigators, arriving unannounced, may slip into an office reserved for them alone, from which the passageways lead out.

A complete lookout on every room in the mailing division of the post office will be afforded, according to the builder's blueprints.

eral Jan Christian Smuts bluntly indicated responsibility for success of the parley rests upon the United States.

The conference adjourned at 12:40 p. m. (7:40 a. m. E. D. T.) until 3 p. m. when the report of the International Labor Conference will be read.

HOURS OF ORATORY

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, London, June 13.—Simultaneously with Britain's reported determination to discontinue debt payments to the United States under the Baldwin agreement, the world economic conference listened for hours today to the oratory of world statesmen.

Most of them directly or indirectly supported Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald's plea for debt reduction on the basis of the Lausanne agreement, which settled reparations at a dime on the dollar.

As the result of MacDonald's speech and the expectation that the British debt due would be cast one way or the other today, secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the American delegation, considered it necessary to revise his speech and hence postponed his address to the conference tomorrow.

Hull Is Absent

Hull absented himself from the conference, working out changes in his speech with the aid of advisers from Washington.

The official explanation of his non-appearance was that a certain lapse of time was necessary to obtain Washington's approval of the alterations.

But there was reason to believe that Washington and Hull agreed it would be advisable to withhold America's voice until Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain had addressed the House of Commons this afternoon regarding the June 15 payment alluding to previously Premier MacDonald as an "awkward hurdle."

Injects Disarmament

GEOGRAPHICAL MUSEUM, London, June 13.—German injected the disarmament issue into the world economic conference this afternoon when Baron Constantin von Neurath, foreign minister, addressed the delegates.

Von Neurath regretted that "vital political problems" had been left unsettled, declaring:

"Let us not forget that without a solution of pressing political questions there can be no satisfactory results from the economic conference."

This was regarded as a ploy for revision of the treaty of Versailles. "Germany," he continued, "has contributed her part toward restoration of confidence throughout the world."

Chancellor Hitler's conciliatory Reichstag speech, he said, had contributed toward signing of the four-power European peace pact and had given a new impulse toward disarmament at Geneva.

"Germany did all this," he added, "despite the fact that the fulfillment of promises made to her are not in sight."

Residents of the building made the gruesome discovery after several tenants had complained to Mrs. Elsie Proud, custodian who rented the apartment last Saturday, of an offensive odor emanating from the apartment.

Tax Assessment Juggling Case Proceeds In Pittsburgh Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 13.—Twin denials today apparently brought an end to the sensational allegations of "jury fixing" in the trial of six Homestead politicians, including Burgess John Cavanaugh, on charges of tax assessment juggling.

The denials were made to Judge Dithrich, presiding at the trial, and District Attorney Andrew T. Park, by Juror Arthur R. Sundberg, Duquesne, and Melvin Mervis, a neighbor of C. J. McBride, former secretary of the board of tax revision and one of the defendants.

Mervis was accused by county agents with boasting he had talked to Sundberg and that "everything was all fixed." He denied making the statement and Sundberg denied Mervis talked to him.

Sundberg, however, was replaced in the jurybox by Mrs. Catherine Kieser.

Makinen Is Found Guilty Of Arson

Bessemer Man Charged With Setting Fire To His Home To Get Insurance

In the case of the commonwealth against John Makinen of Bessemer, tried before Judge James A. Chambers at Court on a charge of arson, the jury returned a verdict of guilty on the first count, charging arson, and on the third count of firing his property. A verdict of not guilty was returned on the lesser counts of the indictment.

It was claimed that Makinen had set fire to his home in order to get insurance, amounting to $2500 on house and furniture. Makinen denied setting fire to the house. He was unable to tell how the fire had originated. There was fire in the cook stove, furnace, and the house was wired. The defense sought to show that any one of these three agencies might have caused the fire.

The services were very largely attended. The pallbearers were H. E. Eckles, Albert Genkinger, Samuel White, John Atkinson, Louis W. McClung and Walter Lamb. Interment was made in Hopewell cemetery, New Bedford.

BEER WON'T MAKE YOU FAT
If you drink beer, in any reasonable quantity and forget all fear of fat, if you give your Lippases just a little daily help.

Any dictionary will tell you that Lippases are the digestive juices that control the production of fat in human bodies. When these juices are controlled, regulated—when they are not—fat and become slim and really healthy.

That's why the new scientific Vannay treatment is doing such wonders for people who are over-weight. It encourages the proper flow of the Lippases, and actually dissolves fat before it can deform the body. Vannay is absolutely harmless. It contains no thyroid extract, no iodine, no alkalies, no drugs of any kind that could hurt even a child. It was discovered by a great physician who has specialized in research with the leading medical institutions of Europe and America.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take Vannay tablets each day and continue to eat three ample meals. The fat disappears at the places where you want to lose it. Start the treatment at once and all your excess should come from fat and slim loveliness for Vannay and be sure that name is on the package. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Love & Megown.

BEER WON'T MAKE YOU FAT
If you drink beer, in any reasonable quantity and forget all fear of fat, if you give your Lippases just a little daily help.

Any dictionary will tell you that Lippases are the digestive juices that control the production of fat in human bodies. When these juices are controlled, regulated—when they are not—fat and become slim and really healthy.

That's why the new scientific Vannay treatment is doing such wonders for people who are over-weight. It encourages the proper flow of the Lippases, and actually dissolves fat before it can deform the body. Vannay is absolutely harmless. It contains no thyroid extract, no iodine, no alkalies, no drugs of any kind that could hurt even a child. It was discovered by a great physician who has specialized in research with the leading medical institutions of Europe and America.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take Vannay tablets each day and continue to eat three ample meals. The fat disappears at the places where you want to lose it. Start the treatment at once and all your excess should come from fat and slim loveliness for Vannay and be sure that name is on the package. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Love & Megown.

NOW COMES THE TEST

FOR three months congress steadily has been conferring upon the president new and extraordinary authority. A program of legislation, without precedent perhaps even in war time, soon will be completed. It has come in response to the executive's request and the country's disposition to follow his leadership.

In recent months the country has beheld the heartening spectacle of a president assuming to the full the responsibility that critical conditions forced upon him. The executive sensed the fact that quick and courageous action was demanded. He knew that it called for the definite fixing of responsibility. That he asked for; that he has received. The president has not shirked or evaded. He has been unafraid.

The program to be executed is both far-reaching and significant. Proposed and advanced on an emergency basis and calculated to hasten recovery, it strikes in certain of its phases at the heart of the traditional American economic system. It would transform industrial procedure, fortify the worker, undertake to guarantee security of the farmer, re-organize the railroads, strengthen the banks, radically modify the currency, inaugurate vast public works and national planning, greatly extend direct relief, aid the home owner, launch new international policies and bring other unusual accomplishment.

That is the program. Such are its professed aims. What of the application, the actual achievement? Practically none of the major phases of the program yet has been tried out. The gold embargo, temporary bank regulations, the beer bill, the forest camp plan, some economy and a few other measures have been made operative. The rest waits. The big test is to come. It shortly will be on.

So far, it is mainly knowledge of what is to be undertaken that has brought certain results. How much of current improvement may be attributed to seasonal and ordinary influences and how much to prospective administration action could not be determined accurately. It is a matter of individual opinion, and one guess may be as good as another.

But what of inflation when it really is at hand, through extended or full use of authority conferred? What of industrial control, genuinely at work? What of the stimulus from the broad public works expenditure? What of the farm program, when it reaches the farmer? Of mortgage aid, when it comes around to the home owner? Of tariff, foreign trade and other treaties, when or if signatures are affixed?

It will be a comprehensive test, one of the most exacting to which any administration, the whole country, ever has been subjected. Hopes have been raised, expectations created, and some misgivings aroused. What will be realized? There is a common stake in the outcome. Not only the administration, but every individual in the nation will be affected in a vital manner.—Kansas City Star.

MANY VIOLATE THIS LAW

A law which thousands of Pennsylvania motorists violate daily without realizing the transgression has been brought to light by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. A. A. A., through a statewide survey of vehicle code infractions. This section—No. 1021—pertains to parking a car on a grade. It reads as follows:

"No person, having control or charge of a motor vehicle, shall allow such vehicle to stand on any highway unattended, without first effectively setting the brakes thereon and stopping the motor of said vehicle, and, when standing upon any grade, without turning the front wheels of such vehicle to the curb or side of highway."

"Although this without doubt is the most frequently violated section of the vehicle code police blotters and other records of arrest do not bear out this conclusion, for arrests seldom are made for this offense," comments S. Edward Gable, president of the federation and chairman of the governor's committee on Street and Highway Safety. "The fact remains, however, that this provision—and particularly the latter part—is violated daily by nine out of every ten drivers."

"This matter was brought to the attention of the federation through serious accidents caused by vehicles left parked on street or highway without the front wheels turned to the side. Set in motion by a sudden jolt, these machines glided down the grade on which they were left standing and, in several instances, did damage to both life and property before being brought to a stop. Had the wheels been turned against the curb, even though the parking brakes were defective or not properly set, these accidents would not have occurred."

Drivers are also warned to guard against letting their cars in gear when parked. By setting the brakes properly and turning the wheels against the curb or side of the highway, you are complying with the law and, at the same time, are protecting your property and that of others. Leaving the car in gear may be just as effective, but it is not required by law and every time you do this you take a chance on having the gears chipped or broken through the car being bumped by a careless driver getting into or out of a parking place next to yours.

The legislators apparently felt that brakes set, motor stopped and, when on a grade, wheels turned to the side is the safest and most effective way of leaving an unattended car and operators should take it upon themselves to see to it that these precautions are taken in parking. Ignorance of the law excuses no one—you should know each and every requirement of the motor code if you drive a car."

Inflation, it is said, will raise the price of raw sugar. Sort of sugar puff, so to speak.

Since we have a very select society of those who "came over on the Mayflower," probably it won't be long until somebody starts an organization of the survivors of the famous Morgan list.

There is a great deal of discussion as to whether President Roosevelt technically recognized Russia in sending a copy of his world peace plea to the Soviet government. Perhaps the President merely recognized what is undoubtedly true: that Russia is one of the most heavily armed nations in the world.

DON'T KICK NOW

(Copyright 1933 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

You often think of the changes you would have made in your life if you had been permitted to live it over again.

You excuse yourself from making an effort to start from where you are, under the plan that you think might have been more beneficial, because you are "older now." Naturally you might have had a greater start beginning younger, but what is there to prevent a start now if the thing you have in mind is worth while?

Isn't it that you are not so anxious to change your present routine?

There would be self-denials and a great deal more work than you do now.

But you like to make excuses for your failure to win success.

It is so much easier to blame those who brought you up.

But you don't say anything about your inclination when you found out your present vocation offered a fair and quicker return for the least personal effort.

You know you didn't relish hard work then, any more than now, but you don't even think about that end of it when you lament your failures.

You adopted a course with quick returns.

Don't kick now.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"ANOTHER UPPING"

The present Administration is very strong for "upping" prices on commodities. Franklin, the Second, is determined that everything shall sell for more money than it has sold; in other words, he is inflating, not deflating.

It seems that along this line, the Director of the Reformation Camps, Mr. Fechner, is doing his bit. He has agreed to pay considerably more for the camps that the Army Chiefs have been able to buy the same kits; in other words, he is paying about $140 for what the Army has been paying 85 cents.

And so the merry Whirligig in Washington goes on.

WORDSWORTH IN 1802

How slowly mortals learn! We come and go.

Repeating ever the same blunders

Once the great Wordsworth, sick at heart and sore,

Watching the pageantry of pomp and show

And the sham triumphs humans strive to know.

Wrote this brief line man's availed to deplore:

"Plan living and high thinking are no more."

And still for us the flowers he cherished grow.

Ever it seems his "homely beauty" waits

For men with rapturous ecstasy to find

Fortune alone is welcome at our gates

And vainly tap the joys of gentler kind.

Yet with so little we could brave the fates

And find contentment were we so inclined.

The usual reaction set the subscribers complained and the more indignant they became, the better

Motor Race Death Toll Held Too High A Price For Thrills

Indianapolis Event, With Impressive Number Of Casualties, Declared To Have Appealed Only To Those Who See Thrills In Peril

Several deaths in the Indianapolis automobile races, which attracted thousands of spectators, lead to public arguments against repetition of events under similar conditions of peril. It is argued that while such speed exhibitions originally were justified on the ground that cars and mechanism must be tested, no such importance now attaches to the contests, and they attract only the persons who demand dangerous action with resultant thrills.

The Indianapolis race may rank high in popular interest as a sporting event," says the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, "but if it is consistent with civilized standards, then our ethical code has risen little since the days of gladiatorial combat." That paper recalls the things that appealed to the ancients with the statement: "Rome had its gladiatorial combats, with men fighting to the death against other men or wild beasts. This mechanical age has magnified the gaudy spectacle to pit men against machines. While 100,000 witnesses applaud, they defy fate by shooting round and round an arena at speeds approaching two miles a minute, where the slightest error in human judgment or mechanical construction means almost certain death or injury."

"The monetary returns," according to the OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN, "were meager compensation for the lives lost in the fight for new speed records. It is not necessary to kill people in order to prove that an automobile will travel at a blinding rate of speed. The whole show seems foolish and barbarous. Of those who attended the races did so in the belief that fatal accidents might enhance the thrills of the occasion."

"These races," as viewed by the RUTLAND HERALD, "have long outgrown their original purpose of proving that the automobile is a car, tires and accessories are substituted in such races as the basis for useful data to automobile builders. It would be just as reasonable to say that driving powerful cars over embankments or into death traps served the same purpose. The fact is that these races are big sport events, shows for the thrill-seeker, enterprise conducted for profit and little else. The difference between the professional automobile racer and the stunt flyer is not very great."

Similar argument is made by the BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN, with the belief that manufacturers look on such events "with skepticism, convinced that the high mortality rate seriously affects the sale of cars." The Statesman concludes that "there is no excuse for it, except in the interest of professional sport, and any sport which demands such a terrific toll of life is barbaric." The BALTIMORE SUN agrees: "Current opinion because they are that races attract crowds that enjoy the thrill of them and are fascinated by the danger of cars speeding at more than a hundred miles an hour on a comparatively small track. The dare-devil riders are attracted by large purses. And the fact that a hundred thousand people were drawn to the Indianapolis race indicates that there must be profit left in it for the promoters. In view of this, the business does not look so very scientific. Human life has been and always will be sacrificed in man's struggle to conquer the air and to overcome obstacles to faster and ever faster transportation on the land and sea. But risks that often involve shocking tragedies should not be countenanced unless it is demonstrable that valuable results are obtained from them. That they come from speedway racing remains to be proved."

A "battle in which the proportion of killed and wounded was as great as in the Indianapolis race would be considered an extraordinarily bloody affair," argues the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, and the PORT HURON TIMES HERALD suggests that "it is rather stretching the imagination to think of one of these racers as interested in anything but the prize that comes with winning."

Weekly Health Talk

"A few days ago the papers noted the passing of a famous trainer of men—William Muldoon. His method was unique only in that it was unusual. And he made more than a million dollars out of it. What is more remarkable is that the price of his services, judged by the benefit accruing to the purchaser, was so small as scarcely to justify mention for each case. What he really sold was will-power—one of the rarest commodities on earth," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"Men who imagined they were kings in their own right and thus above the rules ordained for lesser folk, found their way to Muldoon's Camp in large numbers. Attaining unusual material success they falsely imagined that their bodies were secondary to their wishes. Thus, snubbing nature and lacking the moral stamina to snap into line again, they would enter the famous camp for reconditioning. In so doing, individual desires were checked at the door. The Muldoon discipline immediately took hold—and the results in the majority of instances were startling.

"There was nothing fancy about his system. Nature merely was given supreme and unalterable command. To bed for eight hours each night, proper foods in proper amounts, rest, exercise and recreation as decreed by Old Nature and the elimination of habits which were underrmine vitality—that was about all there was to it.

"The sort of discipline offered by Muldoon to his clients is not only needed by sportsmen and overwrought business men, but by most of us. Of course it is easier to prescribe than to do. However, to the extent that one is able to control his desires and habits so as to conform reasonably to nature's dictates, to that extent is one likely to reap the finest prize the world has to offer—abundant health and vigor.

—because "It's toasted"

Mildness...fragrance...purity
how real they are in Luckies!

Have you ever happened to wonder why "Toasting" is so important to Lucky Strikes? It's really on account of you. For "Toasting" plays a bigger part than you might think in making Luckies so mild and fragrant and pure. Remember, your cigarette comes in rather close personal contact with you, and if it weren't for "Toasting's" purifying heat, even Lucky Strike's choice tobaccos could scarcely be as mild, so pure. So you see what a big part "Toasting" has in making "Luckies Please!"

Medical Discoveries Shown At Convention

Metal Tooth Fillings That Make Dangerous Electric Batteries

New X-Ray Machine Shows Similarity In Twins More Than Skin Deep

By LEIGH MATTESSON
International News Service Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 13.—Physicians of this nation celebrated many centuries of medical progress by presenting their most elaborate scientific exhibit Monday at the opening of the eighty-fourth annual convention of the American Medical Association.

On display were:
Metal tooth fillings that make dangerous electric batteries out of human mouths.

X-Ray films showing that the similarity of identical twins is more than skin deep.

A stroboscopic needle equipment to be inserted into shock-stopped hearts to restore them to normal beating function.

A microscope with novel lighting arrangements that makes possible the study of blood flow in the intact skin of human beings.

A device that makes an electrical record of the gait of walking human beings.

Dr. Everett S. Linn, of Oklahoma University, demonstrated metal tooth fillings that cause electrical currents to flow in the mouth of patients and set up profound physical disturbances.

Photographs showed that teeth are discolored, fillings drop out, and mouth ulcers and inflammation result from the constant flow of the mouth generated electricity.

How Twins Result.
The X-Ray films of identical twins were demonstrated by Doctors Leo G. Rigler, S. E. Torsten Lund and Royal Gray, of the University of Minnesota. Identical twins result from the penetration of one ovum by two sperm cells. Biologists studying heredity had found that such twins usually suffer the same diseases at the same time in their lives, even if they live apart in different environments.

Dr. Albert S. Hyman, of Beth Israel hospital, New York, demonstrated the stroboscopic needle with which he has literally raised a number of heart-shocked patients from the dead. Inserted into the heart, through it is injected drugs that "shock" the heart back into action.

New Microscope.
The new type microscope, which enlarges blood cells 7,000 times, permits physicians to study the flow of blood through capillaries of intact skin on patients suffering from circulatory disturbances. It is hoped the new instrument will enable doctors to detect many pre-gangrenous areas before actual circulation breakdown occurs in the patients.

To date the chief use of the "electrobasograph," which Dr. E. Plato Schwartz, of the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry, has developed to record the walking gait of human beings, is detection of "normal" and "imitated" limps in persons claiming damages for injuries.

Two New Banks At Latrobe, Pa., Opened Today

New Institutions Are Opened To Replace Banks Closed During Depression

(International News Service)

LATROBE, Pa., June 13.—Banking facilities in Latrobe today were restored to their pre-depression status with formal opening of two new institutions to replace two banks closed during the business slump.

The new banks are known as the Latrobe Bank and Trust Company and the First National Bank of Latrobe. The former takes the place of the Latrobe Trust Company; the latter supplants the First National Bank of Latrobe. Nearly all directors of the closed banks have subscribed to the securities of the new banks.

Both have a total capital $350,000. Their surplus accounts aggregate $200,000 and undivided profits $112,500.

They must give up deposits, which they accept as private bankers, or give up their tremendous hold on American industry, public utilities and railroads through interlocking directorates. back into the banking business.

Old Glory Celebrates Birthday

Proudly displaying the Stars and Stripes along with their regimental colors, a U. S. Marine "color guard" is shown taking part in a military ceremony where the highest honors are accorded Old Glory, adopted as the symbol of our country, June 14, 1777.

The birthday of Old Glory, most beautiful of all national flags, is June 14. Our flag is not only the most attractive in design, but it is also truly representative of the nation, for in its blue field there are forty-eight glistening stars, representing each State of the Union.

More than a century and a half has passed since the Star Spangled Banner was first flung to the breeze. Step by step it has kept pace with the forward march of the nation. It stands for patriotism, loyalty and fidelity to the ideals of America.

Long before the Stars and Stripes became the symbol of our great nation, there were scores of flags representing the hopes and aspirations of our forefathers. Colonial flags show anchors, beavers, rattlesnakes, pine trees and various other insignia. Some of them bore the words, "Hope," "Liberty," or "An Appeal to Heaven." A favorite motto beneath the rattlesnake design was "Don't Tread on Me."

But all of the earlier types disappeared when on June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress resolved "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

In the intervening years it has remained unchanged, save only for an occasional variation in the number of stars and stripes, when authorized by congress, and the addition of a star for each new state. Today our flag is much the same as it was 156 years ago.

Farm Boys And Girls Listen To Roosevelt

President Tells Young Farm Boys And Girls To Pay Attention To Trees

LUMBER SUPPLY RUNNING SHORT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—President Roosevelt on Monday admonished several hundred "Future Farmers of America", an organization of boys and girls from the country sections, to pay more attention to the development of timber land in order that this nation might become self-sustaining in the matter of lumber.

"If you will bear in mind that trees are just as much a crop as wheat or potatoes, an idea which has been pretty well sold in other countries, we will get a better rounded economic basis for American life," the president said.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke informally from the south portico of the White House. He told the farm boys and girls that their parents were not paying enough attention to the "wood lot" which exists on virtually every farm.

"Too much stress cannot be put upon our need for lumber," he said. "We have only a timber supply now grown to last us another 30 or 40 years and we are using it four times faster than it grows."

The president smilingly told the gathering that the chances were a 1,000 to one they would never become millionaires inasmuch as they had chosen farming for a profession.

Crop Conditions More Promising

Pennsylvania Crops Are In Better Shape Than Year Ago, Survey Shows

FRUIT PROSPECTS ARE NOT SO GOOD

HARRISBURG, June 13.—Agricultural prospects in Pennsylvania, with the exception of fruit, were more promising on June 1 this year than both a month and a year ago, according to the monthly report of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Favorable growing conditions during May did much to offset delayed field work due to heavy April rains, the report indicates. A bumper hay crop in practically all sections and excellent pastures have resulted from the frequent, copious May showers and the ideal growing weather.

A wheat crop of 15,947,000 bushels, two and a half million bushels more than last year, is the June 1 forecast. The rye harvest is expected to be about 1,580,000 bushels, or the same as the average for the past five years.

Poor pollination, aphid damage, scab infection and late freezing have seriously cut into the Pennsylvania fruit prospects. The peach crop will likely be only 1,197,000 bushels, or 30 per cent less than in 1932. The pear yield may be slightly more than last year, but the cherry crop was nipped severely by frost. No forecast on the apple crop will be made until July 1 but the June 1 condition figure is almost four points below the average of the past ten years.

The seasonal decline in egg production set in during May. Milk production per cow on June 1 was reported as lower than on the corresponding date a year ago, although higher than a month previous.

Gaston Sunday School Reunion Occurs Wednesday

Marks Fiftieth Anniversary Of The First Picnic Held By School

Annual reunion of the former pupils of the Gaston Sunday school will be held Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Yoho of Katherine street, the latter being a daughter of John McKay, founder of the school.

This reunion will mark the fifty-first anniversary of the first picnic ever held by those who attended the old Gaston Sunday school on Sheep Hill, and for that reason will be of more than ordinary interest. This first outing was held in Wright's Woods and it is anticipated that there will be quite a few at the outing on Wednesday, who participated in this memorable first picnic.

Those who ever attended the old Sheep Hill public school for a day, a week or longer will also be welcomed at this event, as the founder of the Sunday school John McKay, had a deep interest in the educational affairs of his community as well as the Sunday school of which he was founder and superintendent and there are many former Sheep Hill school pupils, who will be glad to attend this event at which he will be remembered and honored. A. S. McKay, a son of the founder is here from Florida for the event.

Those attending can take the Jefferson street bus to the end of the line. Dinner will be served at noon. ## Mayor McCloskey Battling Council On Daylight Time

Mayor Of Johnstown Against Daylight Savings, Gets To Meetings Hour Late

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—Mayor Eddie McCloskey has a new scrap on his hands today—this time its daylight saving versus Eastern Standard Time.

City council meetings are scheduled at 10 a. m. The mayor favors Standard time, the majority of council favors daylight time.

So when the mayor arrived, the meeting already was one hour old. He demanded a re-reading of the minutes and promptly walked out when his demand was refused.

Meanwhile, the mayor has posted a $1,500 bond for a preliminary hearing next Monday as the result of an alleged attack upon Leon P. Bennett, president of the county poor board.

Henry Ford

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

This week Friday the Ford Motor Company completes 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

Henry Ford

See Billion And Half Internal Revenue Tax Collections For Year

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The miscellaneous internal revenue collections, which include the tobacco, beer and other sales and stamp taxes indicated today that for a full year's operation on the present basis more than $1,500,000,000 would be obtained from that source.

Approximately $850,000,000 will be received from these sources during the fiscal year ending June 30. This is contrasted to about $770,000,000 for income taxes. In the 1932 fiscal year the miscellaneous collection was $503,000,000 and that from income taxes $1,057,000,000.

Increase Shown
The manufacturers sales taxes, and other new levies of the 1932 revenue act went into effect in July 1932. Revenues from most of the taxes were satisfactory despite the low state of business. Gradually the miscellaneous taxes passed the income taxes until they now show an excess of nearly $200,000,000 although the heavily boosted income tax rates were effective beginning with the March payment.

For the first eight days of June miscellaneous internal revenue amounted to $30,330,000 more than three times that of the same period last year and compared to $35,411,000 in May, $27,912,000 in April and $25,748,000 in March.

Several Factors
Several factors account for the increase. The warm weather has brought out the beer-drinkers and furthermore the supply and quality of the new beverage has improved. There has been a seasonal increase in the gasoline tax, while the government's revenue from the transfer tax on stocks has increased along with the more active stock market. Other sales taxes undoubtedly have gained owing to the improvement in business generally. On the other hand there has been a seasonal decline in the electric energy tax.

The government's deficit is remaining at about a billion dollars under last year, with the present excess of expenditures at $1,710,000,000. Last year's deficit was about $2,880,000,000. However, there is an additional expenditure this year of $1,234,923,000 for the purchase of securities of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which does not appear in the deficit but is included in the public debt. Last year $500,000,000 for purchase of capital stock in the R. F. C. was in the deficit and $267,700,000 in the public debt.

Will Consolidate Federal Bureaus

Prohibition Bureau And Investigation Bureau Will Be Combined

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—With the evident belief that the 18th amendment will be repealed, the administration has decided to consolidate the prohibition bureau with the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

Attorney General Cummings said today that the reorganization plan called for retaining the bureau of industrial alcohol in the treasury and the justice department withdrawing from any supervision over it.

Just what sort of unit for prohibition enforcement will be set up in the bureau of investigation has not been determined. Cummings said that it would either be one which can be made to serve a useful purpose if the 18th amendment is repealed or one whose function would cease with repeal.

The present setup with the prohibition bureau in the justice department and the industrial alcohol bureau in the treasury, with certain supervision by the attorney general has not worked out, causing much "buck passing" as Cummings put it.

This developed particularly in relation to the licensing of breweries causing a controversy between Prohibition Director A. V. Dairymple and James M. Doran, chief of the industrial alcohol unit.

Cummings expressed conviction that the new arrangement was a happy solution of a troublesome matter.

Letters Intended For The Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

Editor, New Castle News, New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:—

Will kindly ask that you publish the following:

Shall we face the world? The procession of foreign statesmen to the national capital for conferences with President Roosevelt and his advisers seem to worry some citizens of this country who are afraid that the republic will fall a prey to the wily Machination of the astute foreign visitors.

The foreign countries protect their standing armies in number and financially, but neglect to pay their war debts. Should the foreign countries reduce their standing armies and their salaries also they could pay their war debts. At present they are still increasing same instead of decreasing. At present the United States in full strength is 125,000 in our standing army. Now compare this to some of the foreign. Great Britain has 725,000. Japan 1,225,000.

One of the leading movements in those foreign countries is to prepare for war. The largest submarine in the world is in France. It is 400 feet long and weighs 3,500 tons, 1,000 tons more than the next largest which is owned by the United States. The French submarine can dive to a depth of 430 feet and travel 15 miles an hour under water. As to the war debt due the United States from foreign countries we dare not be to harsh with them. We all have ancestors in some foreign country.

As to the United States and foreign trading. Our countries as to the heads of governments tell us we are trading, but do not mention names and quantities and I do not think would be our women. I got my choice of them 45 years ago and have same yet. As to agriculture can and will mention few.

First, imported into the United States by foreign countries. Raw cotton in 1928 from Egypt 135,007,000 pounds. In 1931 when the depression partly stopped the trade, only 10,183,000 pounds. China 1928, 18,554,000. In 1931, 14,883,000. British India at this time will only mention for 1931, 16,528,000 pounds. Peru, 959,000 pounds. Other countries 1,833,000 pounds. Flax manufactured United Kingdom 383 long tons. Latria 1,926 long tons. Belgium 536 long tons. Netherlands 154 long tons. Russia in Europe 155 long tons. Other Europe 275 long tons. Manila fiber 43,000 long tons. Sisal and henequen 84,000 long tons. Fruits dried; Currant 8,610,000 lbs. Dates 42,428,000 pounds. Figs 14,825,000 pounds. Fibers, animal manufactured. Wool clothing, wool 728,000 pounds. Hair Angora, goat 999,000 pounds. Sausage casings 13,355,000 pounds. Cocoa or cocoa beans 415,442,000 pounds. Coffee 1,728,569,000 pounds. Butter 1,329,000 pounds. Cheese 57,972,000 pounds. Eggs in the shell 301,000 dozen. Egg Albumen 2,221,000 pounds. Fibers, animal silk raw, in skeins reeled from cocoon 81,779,000 pounds. wool unmanufactured carpet wool 103,261,000 pounds.

Exported from the United States: Oils vegetable; cotton seed 26,353,000 pounds. Sugar refined total Europe 70,000 short tons. Tobacco leaf bright flue cured total Europe 432,688,000 pounds. Could name each section that used a certain amount but time and space will not allow. Grains and grain products. Wheat four total Europe 11,757,000 pounds. Hops 5,593,000 pounds. Oil cake and oil cake meal and cotton seed cake 70,759,000 pounds. Cotton seed meal

16,498,000 pounds. Linseed or flaxseed cake 289,746,000 pounds. Fruits: Oranges 3,984,000 boxes. Grapefruit 1,222,000 boxes. Canned 271,985,000 pounds. Barley grain 10,390,000 bushels. Apples in boxes 12,904,000.

The above articles mentioned are only few but will show the readers of the New Castle News that our countries are trading.

To make slight mention of the beer question. As to the consumption annually under present conditions could not be told as yet. The Beer bill was passed to help balance the budget. Whether the future will equal the past is to be seen. As for the past taking the year 1914 as a basis before any of our soldiers went abroad to take care of the World War and while our nation was in full force, malt beverages amounted to 66,105,455 barrels of thirty one gallons each annually. Our nation must have been thirsty or our wells gone dry.

CONGRESS SESSION MAY LAST THROUGH WEEK

Controversies Cause Congress To Stay On Job

Bi-Partisan Revolt Has Prompted Special Session At Washington

TAX SHOWDOWN DUE THIS WEEK

Committees Wrestle With Offices Bill And Industrial Recovery

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 13.—The bi-partisan revolt on Capitol Hill which has projected the special session of congress past the opening date of the World Economic Conference today developed major controversies over income tax publicity. Tax exempt securities, veterans relief and banking reform.

There were indications the session might be prolonged throughout the week. Administration leaders, seeking once more to force final adjournment by nightfall, frankly charged there was a conspiracy to keep congress in session until the Economic Conference reaches a decision on tariffs and debts.

Move Toward Showdown

The tax controversies moved toward a showdown in the senate which had before it the conference report on the industrial recovery and $3,300,000,000 Public Works bill. An agreement was reached to vote on the report during the afternoon.

The Independent Offices Appropriation bill, with its fund for veterans' payments, was deadlocked in conference. The deadlock postponed a final decision between embattled administration leaders and strong insurgent groups. Vain efforts to reach a new compromise acceptable all the way round were made.

The house took up the conference report on the Glass-Steagall Banking Reform bill, with 120 Democratic senators pledging themselves in a round robin not to vote for final adjournment until it was sent to the White House.

Want Bill Back

Senate insurgents demanded the Industrial Recovery bill be sent back to conference in order that three senate amendments might be restored. These were (1) the LaFollette amendment for full income tax publicity; (2) the Clark proposal to tax all governmental bonds, federal, state and local; (3) the Borah amendment forbidding price fixing by industrial units under the trade practice agreements legalized in the bill.

The LaFollette amendment was modified by the conferees to make publicity of income taxes discretionary with the president. The Clark amendment was knocked out and the Borah amendment emasculated.

Deficiency Bill

The senate was to take up the $3,459,480,000 Deficiency Appropriation bill late this afternoon.

Strong senate support was massed behind the demand for passage of the Glass-Steagall measure. Threats of a filibuster against this major proposal were heard.

House leaders maneuvered to force through a special rule to block consideration of the Black 30-Hour Week bill. They hoped to secure this rule by a majority vote, after they filed to muster a two-third vote under a different procedure.

SEE NEW ORDER FOR LOCAL STONE

Low Bidder On Pymatuning Job Already Using Neshannock Falls Stone

Information from Harrisburg to the effect that Bates and Rogers are low bidders for the contract for relocation of the railroad and the new road at the Pymatuning Dam, will probably mean another large stone order for the Neshannock Falls quarries. The same company is building the highway across the dam from Espyville to Andover and for this work 100,000 tons of stone are being taken out of the Neshannock quarries for rip rapping.

The contract for the new highway at the dam calls for 20,000 cubic yards of rip rap stone. This would indicate about 45,000 tons of stone.

Workmen have been engaged for several months in the quarries cutting and shipping the rip rap stone for the Espyville-Andover highway, and have been getting out an average of 4 to 5 cars per day. If the new job is put into the Neshannock Falls quarries, it would mean more men and shipments of several cars per day over and above what is now being gotten out.

Fail To Identify Two Of Victims Of Big Plane Crash

Dental Charts Will Be Only Means Of Finding Out Who Victims Are

(International News Service) CHICAGO, June 13.—Two of the nine victims burned to death when the world's first sight-seeing plane Northern Light lost a wing and crashed remained unidentified today as federal, state and county authorities pressed a triple investigation.

Dental charts of the two victims, both men, were being distributed throughout the country in an effort to identify the two. No passenger list was made before the ill-fated Sikorsky amphibian took off.

After hearing the eye witness testimony of several spectators, a coroner's jury agreed that the plane suffered structural damages when Pilot Carl Vickery made a vain effort to bring the ship down on the rough waters of Lake Michigan. Taking the plane into the air again, he headed for Pal-Waukee Airport, near which the crash occurred.

Delegates Are Being Guarded

Scotland Yard Men Tag Delegates And Hope To Prevent Disorders

LEGATIONS ARE ALSO GUARDED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, June 13.—Fantastic crime thrillers spun in reams around Scotland Yard since Sherlock Holmes' cradle days were paid into insignificance Monday by the vast, silent, mysterious and invisible network of secret service spread over London.
The famous yard has outdone itself to establish airtight protection for the kings, potentates, premiers, diplomats and money barons concentrated in the British capital for the World Economic Conference.

Efficient Men
Political fanatics, hired assassins, revolutionary bomb throwers and anarchists will have a tough time evading the penetrating eyes of thousands of Scotland Yard men assisted by a host of specially trained secret service operatives and a small army of continental detectives brought in by the various delegations.

All the "man-hunters" are operating directly from Scotland Yard with the sanction of the British home office.
Scotland Yard is aware that there are scattered throughout the country a large number of aliens, undesirable, fanatics and political racketeers who are a potential menace to the safety and peace of mind of important conference delegates.

Kept On Guard
In addition, recent developments in the political situation in many countries such as Germany, Soviet Russia and Far East and Latin-American states are considered likely to provoke unfortunate incidents.
Therefore, Scotland Yard was endowed with full responsibility to safeguard the conference and its delegates from untoward events.
Armed guards have also been discreetly posted day and night at foreign embassies and legations. Every delegation is included in the Scotland Yard vigil, with the Americans perhaps the least burdened by protective surveillance.

The gals certainly look hot under those new skillet type hats.

355 Non-Swimmers Splash As Y Opens Annual Campaign

A hilarious three-ring circus had nothing on the frivolity that figuratively rocked the local Y. M. C. A. as the annual ten-day "Learn To Swim" campaign of the association got under way in earnest on Monday afternoon.

Physical Director Henry T. MacNicholas, given a warning of the crowd in advance, found 355 boys between 10 and 16 years of age anxious to splash into the pool for the first of their swimming lessons. Hundreds of application coupons, printed in The News, had been returned to the Y before Saturday night.

With everything ready for handling the throng registration of the boys proceeded swiftly under Roger Meermans' guidance, after which MacNicholas took them down to the pool.

Between 1 and 5:30 p. m. there were nine different classes with every one of the 355 enjoying a brief swim. Eight classes were to be conducted today under the direction of capable swimming directors.

Nearly 40 boys who were found to be able to swim were picked out by the physical director.

The campaign, conducted free of charge for all non-swimming boys, continues until June 24. Classes will not be held on Saturdays and Sundays.

The whole troop joined in a group of songs. Georgia Parker and Audrey Gilliland, first class scouts loaned by Mrs. W. H. Hanger's troop, have been assistants to Mrs. Westlake and Mrs. Tannehill. Under their direction sandwiches, cookies and lemonade were served.

Regular weekly meetings have been disbanded by this troop for this summer although the girls are planning hikes and picnics.

New York Bank Official Takes Witness Stand

Harry F. Mayer, Tells Of His Part In Changing Sums For Mitchell

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 13.—Harry F. Mayer, vice president of the National City Company in charge of audits, today testified at the income tax evasion trial of Charles E. Mitchell of his part in changing the sums received by officers from the "management fund" from income into "advances".

Mitchell, as chairman of the company, received $666,666 in July, 1929, from the management fund. In December, 1929, the board of directors voted to make the sums distributed repayable from future accruals of the fund.

The government charges this resolution was passed as "a sanctioning of a scheme" resulting from scrutiny of the management fund by stockholders and government officials. Mitchell omitted his $666,666 from his income tax return.

Mayer testified he conferred in December, 1929, with R. M. Byrne, executive officer of the company, about the shrinkage in the management fund. He said he decided the officers should give receipts for the "apparent overpayments" made them from the fund.

2:15—handcraft, dramatics, newspaper.

3:00—handcraft, dramatics, life-saving.
4:00—general swim for everybody.
5:30—supper.
6:15—flag lowering.
7:00—sports (archery, tennis, croquet, etc.).

7:30—camp fire.
8:15—crackers and milk.
8:30—sing.
9:15—bed and lights out.
That is all until the next morning.

Inspection of cabins is made every morning and the girls have an opportunity to show their prowess in housekeeping. The neatest is dubbed the "honor cabin"; the inmates of which choose a general officer to have charge of the day's activities.

Sarazen-Hagen Are Quarreling Over Captaincy

Gene Sarazen Thinks That He Should Be Appointed Ryder Team Leader

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 13.—On the eve of its departure for England, the American Ryder cup team is threatened today by dissension with Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen the principals and active subscribers. They're openly hostile now. What they'll be by the time they land at Southampton for the international matches with the British. Only those six days at sea can hope to divulge.

Come to think of it, theirs was never the deep and enduring attachment of twin spirits attuned to the vibrations of harmony. Rather, their dislike has been innate, instinctive; sometimes guarded and inactive, often a little violent. This time, the story is briefly told.

Sarazen, as open champion of both countries during the same year, a distinction shared with Jones, wanted to be captain of the Ryder cup team. He even felt that automatically he should be captain. But Hagen is.

Hagen shoots 66. So not for nothing were those slanders exchanged at North Shore last week during the national open championship. The despatching of a club attendant by Hagen with a chair to Sarazen out there on one of the late tees wasn't humorous nor was it intended to be. It was a grim jest. The slightest references Sarazen had made to "old man Hagen" had evidently rankled and, when Hagen finished with a record-equaling 66 and Sarazen somewhere down on the left field foul line, he couldn't resist the jibe.

Carnera Hopes For Knockout

Italian Fighter Confident That He Can Defeat The American Champion

HAS MORE SNAP TO LEFT WRIST

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 13.—There's nothing like a good hot day for going overboard, so the writer, accompanied by an ever growing army of fight fans, has no hesitation in hoping off with the prediction that Primo Carnera will whip Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight title, June 29.

This prediction is based on more than a mere hunch. It is founded, rather, on the newly acquired snap to Carnera's left hand, his added experience, his increased confidence and the loss of some of his good nature.

Carnera's awkward left was good enough to hold Sharkey at bay for 15 rounds two years ago when Primo was nothing more than a novice and Jack was at his peak.

Today in his training camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., the huge Italian showed a snap to that left which left a sore and bobbing head in its wake. Primo has shortened his punches. When he hooks now to the body or head he no longer resembles a Dutch windmill.

Never given to boasting—his most audacious forecast heretofore has been "I do my best"—he now quietly and sincerely remarks that he expects to knock out Sharkey. "You don't know," says Primo, "painfully gathering his English phrases together, how much this means to me and all Italians. Even Mussolini, he want to see me champ. All Italians everywhere bet on me. I no can—how you say—let them down."

Sharkey Snapping. Those close to Sharkey say Jack realizes he is not the fighter he once was but he is going to make a desperate effort to get in his perfect condition as possible. Sharkey may have slipped quite a way from his peak but he is still too smart, too ring-wise and too shifty to be a pushover for anybody.

However, he can't go on forever, and if he is to be taken by anybody, it might just as well be Primo.

Many Players Are On Block

Cleveland Would Part With Vosmik, Burnett, Morgan And Hudlin

PHILLIES ALSO LOOK FOR TRADE

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Clubs which wish to make belated reinforcements in their ranks for the final pennant drive must do so by midnight Thursday, the deadline for major league trading. Quite a few "fealers" have been sent out, and some of the proposed deals involve ranking stars of yesterday.

Cleveland and the Phillies are reported to be open for an old-fashioned housecleaning. Walter Johnson wants to give Cleveland fans a new deal, while the financially embarrassed owners of the Phils seek cash.

Players on Block.
The following players are said to be on the block:

Cleveland—Vosmik, Hudlin, Burnett and Morgan.
Brooklyn—Wright, O'Doul and Wilson, present and past National League batting champions.
Cubs—Babe Herman.
Red Sox—Bob Weiland.
Giants—Leslie.
Phillies—Everybody except Klein and Bartell.

Indians Want Combs.
Cleveland wants to snare Earl Combs from the Yankees, who aren't interested unless Earl Averill is included in the deal. Washington may try to get Hudlin. The Cubs and the Phils are eager to grab Leslie. The Red Sox could use Burnett. Trade negotiations between Brooklyn and the Phils are boiling. The Dodgers want Hurst and Pullis.

As if to impress the Dodgers with his worth, Hurst hit a double and two singles against them yesterday. The Phils winning 7 to 4 and dropping Brooklyn into seventh place. Owen Carroll, who hasn't finished a game in nearly a month, was knocked out, while "Snipe" Hansen went the route for the Quakers. It was his first victory of the season.

Reds Beat Cubs.
For the sixth time in seven games at Redland field this year, Cincinnati beat the Cubs, 6 to 5. The Reds made four errors but sewed up the game in the seventh with a four-run rally featured by Grant.

The Chicago White Sox lost to St. Louis 3 to 1 and dropped to fourth place in the American league. Bruce Campbell, big gunner of the Browns, broke up a mound duel between George Blaholder and Bill Durham by hitting his seventh homer of the year with a man on base in the eighth.
Other clubs were not scheduled.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries reports that last year the various state fish hatcheries produced 246,771,534 trout, 10,248,041 bass and 382,060,835 other game fish. Those government employees must certainly be good at counting fish, when they can report so exactly on how many there are. Here is another good example of statistics gone crazy.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON
Central Press Association.

IN PLAYING UPHILL OR DOWNHILL SHOTS TRY TO SWING WITH NOT AGAINST SLOPE OF GROUND

In playing an uphill or a downhill shot try to swing with, not against, slope of the ground.

ALEX MORRISON says:
The average player has trouble enough figuring out the loft of his shots when playing from level ground.

But when it comes to raising the ball from an uphill or a downhill lie he thinks it necessary to employ some special stroke.

No radical changes from your regular swing are needed to lift the ball from any kind of sloping ground. You need only stand at an angle which will enable you to swing with the slope.

Trying to play against the slope will only bring about faults in your swing which are bound to be hard to get rid of.

Next: Short Shots.

Costs Her $50,000 a Year to be "Best Dressed"

Constance Bennett and Lilyan Tashman, considered two of screen's style arbiters, agree on Mrs. Harrison Williams, Kentucky-born wife of New York utilities magnate, as best-dressed society woman. Pictured are Mrs. Williams displaying some of the wardrobe which a New York observer declares costs her $50,000 a year, and (in circle) Mr. Williams, who pays the bills.

STOCKS

Some Reaction
As Market OpensSupport Is Thrown Into Market After Early Profit-Taking

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 13.—A wave of profit-taking which sent the high price taker 7 minutes behind today upset the uprush in the stock market which yesterday carried the list to new highs for the year.

The selling followed the new deadlock in Washington between the White House and congress, the inauspicious opening of the World Economic Conference with the injection of the war debts problem and a spirited rally in the dollar against foreign currencies.

Contributing factors later were a slump in commodities, led by wheat and cotton. The former lost a cent a bushel and the latter more than 50 cents a bale.

The bulls threw support into the market after the opening reaction. Concentrating principally on the rails, oils and aviation shares. This helped steady the rest of the market and prevented the reaction from attaining serious proportions.

The brunt of the profit-taking was borne by the leaders of yesterday's upsurge, principally American Telephone, U. S. Steel common, Allied Chemical, Case Threshing and the Utilities. Losses quickly ran to more than 2 points before resistance was shown.

The rails were helped by the new traffic gains for last week, individual gains promising an even larger gain over 1932 than shown in the last few weeks. Fresh reports of an early rise in crude prices aided the Petroleum list but the oils failed to recapture yesterday's buoyancy. Steels were heavy despite new gains in the industry's operations. Aviation of Delaware was outstanding in the air stocks, and was taken to a new high in huge dealings.

Webber's Not Guilty,
Costs On Rev. Flack

In the case of Gertrude and Lancaster Webber, charged with forcible entry, which was tried before Judge R. L. Eldredge, at court, the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" and placed the costs on the prosecutor, the Rev. Verian Flack. The case was one in which the Webbers had given free rent to Flack for a time with the understanding he was to move out when the house was wanted. When he would not move the Webbers are alleged to have gone in through a window during his absence and set the goods out. Rev. Flack secured a constable and had them arrested for forcible entry.

NEWER STREET CAR

It seats about 30 passengers and has upholstered seats. It is not known when a newer bus than the one now in use will be put in service on the West Side, as indicated by a citizen before city council.

Frank Blackburn
Is Elected Tax
Collector Here

Special Meeting Is Held By Council For This Purpose Last Night

SCHOOL BOARD TO BE GRANTED LOAN

ELLWOOD CITY, June 13.—Frank Blackburn of 521 Spring avenue is to be the new tax collector in Ellwood City according to an action taken by the borough council at a special meeting in the city building last night.

Council had taken the hint of the school board that they would elect a qualified tax collector if the city solons did not, in order to prevent a repetition of last year's situation.

There were three persons nominated for the office. Councilman William McGilney named Oscar Dahl; Councilman Paxton Fike nominated Edward McCloskey; and Councilman Alex Main selected Frank Blackburn. The vote resulted with Dahl getting 4, McCloskey 2, and Blackburn 4. Another vote was then taken with McCloskey being eliminated. Blackburn received 6 of the 10 possible votes. All councilmen were present at the meeting.

Of course the newly elected tax collector will have to qualify now within 15 days after receiving a notice to this effect from the council and school board.

The election of a tax collector was necessary due to the resignation of Borough Clerk E. B. Moyer from the position, thus leaving no qualified person to collect 1933 taxes. Whoever will be elected tax collector in September will not be able to collect until 1934.

A request of the local board of education for a loan of $10,000 in order to meet the school district's next payroll in 50 per cent cash was granted by council. President J. E. Powell ordered the finance committee headed by G. H. Morrison to make the necessary arrangements to accede with the request. The board is to give council a certificate of indebtedness to guarantee payment in one year. It is expected that the money will be repaid in September when 1933 taxes start coming in and the board received an advance in its state appropriation.

Game Commissioner
Addresses Ellwood
Rod And Gun Club

Local Sportsmen Club Approves Passage Of Two Bills By Legislature

ELLWOOD CITY, June 13.—An interesting meeting was held by the Ellwood City Rod and Gun Club in the Schweizer hall last night when members assembled there for their monthly session. There was a fairly good attendance at the time.

The feature of the evening was an address by Mr. Thompson of the Educational Department of State Game Commission. Mr. Thompson's talk was illustrated with moving pictures.

Following this a business session was conducted in which a number of important matters were acted upon and transacted. The local sportsmen club heartily commended the passage of two bills by the state legislature. One, explicitly the rights of persons in one camp. Six deer is allowed to one camp, and as soon as a person obtains his deer he may assist other members of the camp by driving the animals into open range, thus giving the other person a good shot.

The other bill stated that the coon is no longer a fur bearing animal and is not permitted to be trapped. It will have to be hunted now like game and shot.

The meeting last night was the last of the club's membership drive. The next one will be held on the second Monday of July at the same place.

Those present last night observed an interesting sight. One of the largest trout to have ever been captured in waters of this district was displayed. The trout was 21 inches long and weighed four pounds. It was caught by Charles Kettler, of Wurtemburg in a small pool.

The club will not hold another regular meeting until sometime in September. At present arrangements are being made to hold its annual picnic sometime next month.

The election was held by mail. That is each member of the club was supplied with the complete enrollment of the club and the persons receiving the most votes were announced and another election was held. This resulted with all the old officers being reelected which are as follows: President, J. E. McDanel; vice president, Paul Flaut; treasurer, Tom Graham; secretary, George W. Wilson.

The club will not hold another regular meeting until sometime in September. At present arrangements are being made to hold its annual picnic sometime next month.

Hollywood Movie Stars Migrating To Big Ranches

Gary Cooper, Bill Boyd, Joel McCrea, Richard Dix Live On Ranches

Enjoy Wide-Open Spaces And Raisé Food And Cattle For Own Use

By HARRISON CARROLL International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 13.—Ere Hollywood is going back to the land.

This new fad, now in full swing, discovers many of the stars renting or selling their 15 room mansions, their Malibu cottages and going to live on ranches. Here, they live the life of country-gentlemen, enjoying out-of-door sports and often raising enough fruit, cattle, horses or chickens to make their hobby self-supporting.

New recruits constantly join the movement.

Gary Cooper On Ranch. Gary Cooper has left Hollywood for a 6 acre place in the valley. Half-joking, half-serious, he says: "I wanted to get away from the clink of ice in high-ball glasses and to hear dogs barking at night like coyotes."

Bill Boyd recently sold his other homes and has moved onto a 40-acre ranch in Sycamore Canyon, 17 miles north of Malibu. Until four years ago, there wasn't even a road leading to his property. The grove of walnut trees, now 16 years old, were hauled in on horseback. There also are a large vineyard, orchards of fancy fruit trees, milch cows, chickens and riding horses.

Richard Dix also has a paying ranch, on which he raises turkeys, chickens and ducks.

Another devotee is Joel McCrea, who has bought 1000 acres of grazing land near Chatsworth, California. The proudest smile I ever saw on Joel's face was when he saw me up to the study in the new truck he had bought for the ranch. He goes in for raising horses and beef.

And then there's David Manners who is building a ranch house near Victorville. All of these stars will spend the majority of their time at their country property. When the studio calls, they will commute into Hollywood which, in most cases, is not more than an hour and a half by motor.

Legal Status Of Senate Committee Is Being Probed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 13.—The legal status of the senate utilities investigating committee, whose life and finances were cut short by Gov. Gifford Pinchot's veto of the McClure resolution, was being studied today by its counsel, Franklin Spencer Edmonds, Philadelphia.

A meeting here yesterday left an obvious split in the views as to the status of the body, originally created at the 1932 special session of the general assembly. Edmonds has been asked to rule on whether the committee possesses authority to continue its probe of the Public Service commission and utility companies without executive approval.

The committee assailed Governor Pinchot for "breaking faith". By vetoing the McClure bill appropriating $100,000 to finance the probe.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This is the ideal season for Red Horse, according to the authority on this form of fish life, James E. Fletcher, and if you happen to be somewhat in the fog, know that a red horse is nothing like a hot dog. A red horse is a fish, not as big as a salmon nor as game as a tuna, nor as tasty as a trout, but a fish nevertheless.

One of the native habitats of the red horse is Little Beaver township in Hickory creek and here Mr. Fletcher succeeded in luring four away from their home and hearth. Four all on the same hook, he insists, but upon questioning agrees that it was just one at a time.

Tricky as can be, are red horses, it seems. One can't simply dangle in a line and hook baited with ordinary bait. Not for a red horse. It takes cunning and finesse and skill beyond the ordinary to catch them. And once you do have them, well there you are.

It seems that the argument or rather debate in the Rotary club yesterday at noon has started another war. This time over the derivation of words and the pronunciation of the Latin language. Seems that George Muse referred to his opposition's argument as a "dia-tribe" and proceeded to tear the word apart finally winding up by showing that "dia" meant a bunch, and "tribe" meant tripe and that jointly the argument was a bunch of tripe.

Ray Tannehill, who knows his Virgil and Cicero like you know the back of your hand, insists that Mr. Muse is all wet, or at least very damp in his interpretation of the classics. And Ralph Bolsinger adds his opinion that it was all Greek to him any way.

One more piece of art comes to the desk. This time the booklet of Monroe county, Pennsylvania, where the chief industry is tourists. You may not recognize Monroe county by that name, but perhaps you do recognize Delaware Water Gap, the Pocomo, Buck Hill Falls and spots like that.

Uniontown Man Is Accidental Suicide

Told Friends He Was Going To Shoot Himself, And He Did By Mistake

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 13.—"Would you like to see me shoot myself?" William P. Aldridge jokingly queried of four acquaintances. One of the gun's six chambers contained a blank. Police believe Aldridge thought the weapon was set to discharge the blank. Bracing himself for a laugh, he raised the gun to his head and pulled the trigger.

Before the astonished friends, Aldridge slumped to the ground, fatally wounded. The hammer had set off a loaded slug. The act left Mrs. William Aldridge a widow today and the couple's three children fatherless. Police said they were inclined to label the case "accidental suicide."
